Affirmation Stems

The field of positive psychology has a tool known as sentence stems, which was developed by Nathaniel Brand, they allow for great insights by giving you the beginning of a sentence that you finish 5 to 10 times and then review your completed sentences for lessons and insights.

Let's take the idea of stems and apply to them affirmations to help you in creating affirmations of your own. This way you will never need another book of affirmations – you can write your own!

For true freedom to be experienced, you must give up control. It is important to become aware of and to take responsibility for, your need to control. The need to control is rooted in fear. It is a desire to dominate, to command; to exercise direction over. When you experience fear, there is resistance and struggle. I invite you to allow more and control less.

If you encounter resistance, feelings of unease, or a voice screaming in your head, “NO! This isn't true. You are lying!” when doing affirmations try a different beginning phrase to the affirmation, taking it from a declarative fact to something more open and acceptable to your brain.

Here are a wide range of Affirmation Stems to play with.
